

「第3世界における日米の役割に関する国際セミナー」
(Conference on: Japan and the U.S. in the Developing World)

日 時：平成7年9月1-2日

場 所：エール大学（Yale University；米国コネチカット州ニューヘイブン市）

主 催：神戸大学経済経営研究所、エール大学経済開発研究所

Japan and the U.S. in the Developing World

September 1-2, 1995

Economic Growth Center, Yale University

September 1, 1995 (Friday)

9:30-9:45a.m. Opening Remarks

9:45-12:15p.m. SESSION I : The Economics of Immigration and Related Trade and Labor Policies

Junichi Goto, Kobe University

“The Economic Impact of Migrant Workers on the Host Country: Theory and Application to Japan”

T. Paul Schultz, Yale University

“Aging, Immigration, and the Roles of Women in the Labor Force: Japan compared to other OECD countries”

Commentators and Floor Discussion

12:30-2:00p.m. Lunch

2:00-4:30p.m. SESSION II : International Cooperation in Development

Gustav Ranis, Yale University, and Toru Yanagihara, Hosei University

“International Cooperation in Development”

Commentators and Floor Discussion

6:00p.m. Reception and Dinner

September 2, 1995 (Saturday)

9:30-12:00 noon SESSION III : Foreign Direct Investment and the Transfer of Technology

Koichi Hamada, Yale University

“The Role of the United States and Japan in Direct Investment and the Transfer of Technology”

Commentators and Floor Discussion

12:15-2:00p.m. Lunch

2:00-4:00p.m. Panel Discussion : Findings and Conclusions for Policy